PRISTINE PORSCHE PANZERS PRANCE THRU PERRY PLAZA

The Perry Autocross in July turned out to be beneficial to our Region in three important ways: 1) We demonstrated to the people of Perry that we could put on a safe, fun-to-watch event, 2) We exposed the crowd of about 100 spectators to the sport of autocrossing, and 3) We made about $100 profit on the deal!

Thanks to the last minute rescuing efforts of Bob Dideriksen, whodrove to get the pylons from Jeff Lammert, the event started only a few minutes behind schedule. Jeff's car, it seems, developed clutch problems and he had to return home for the van. Jeff arrived in Perry in time to run the event in his usual efficient fashion.

The course was set up by George Eckstein and Bob. Their best enovation was the use they made of a brown vinyl couch that was left at the Salvation Army drop box. It proved to be a large deterrent against going off course at the north end of the lot!

Twenty four drivers took a go at the expanded course this year. Joining the eight of us who were in Porsches were 16 folks in various modes of rapid (and not-so-rapid) transit. Those guys from SCCA in their set-up Rabbits and Datsuns know how to get around a parking lot in a BIG HURRY!. The same can't be said for those poor souls who tried it in their Trans-Ams, 'Vettes and Oldsmobiles!

After several hours in the sweltering heat, the gang headed to Pizza Hut to down a few cold ones and pass out the ribbons. Stu Lehr, once again, took fastest Porsche time of the day and first place in the 4-cylinder class. Sid Jepson zipped to 1st in his newly-lowered 911SC for the 6-cylinder win. Paula Abbott picked up 10 more points as the only lady to suffer the heat that day, (She was second fastest of the Porsche drivers though). Then talk turned to the Fall Ball. . . Let's do IT in AMES!

FALL BALL

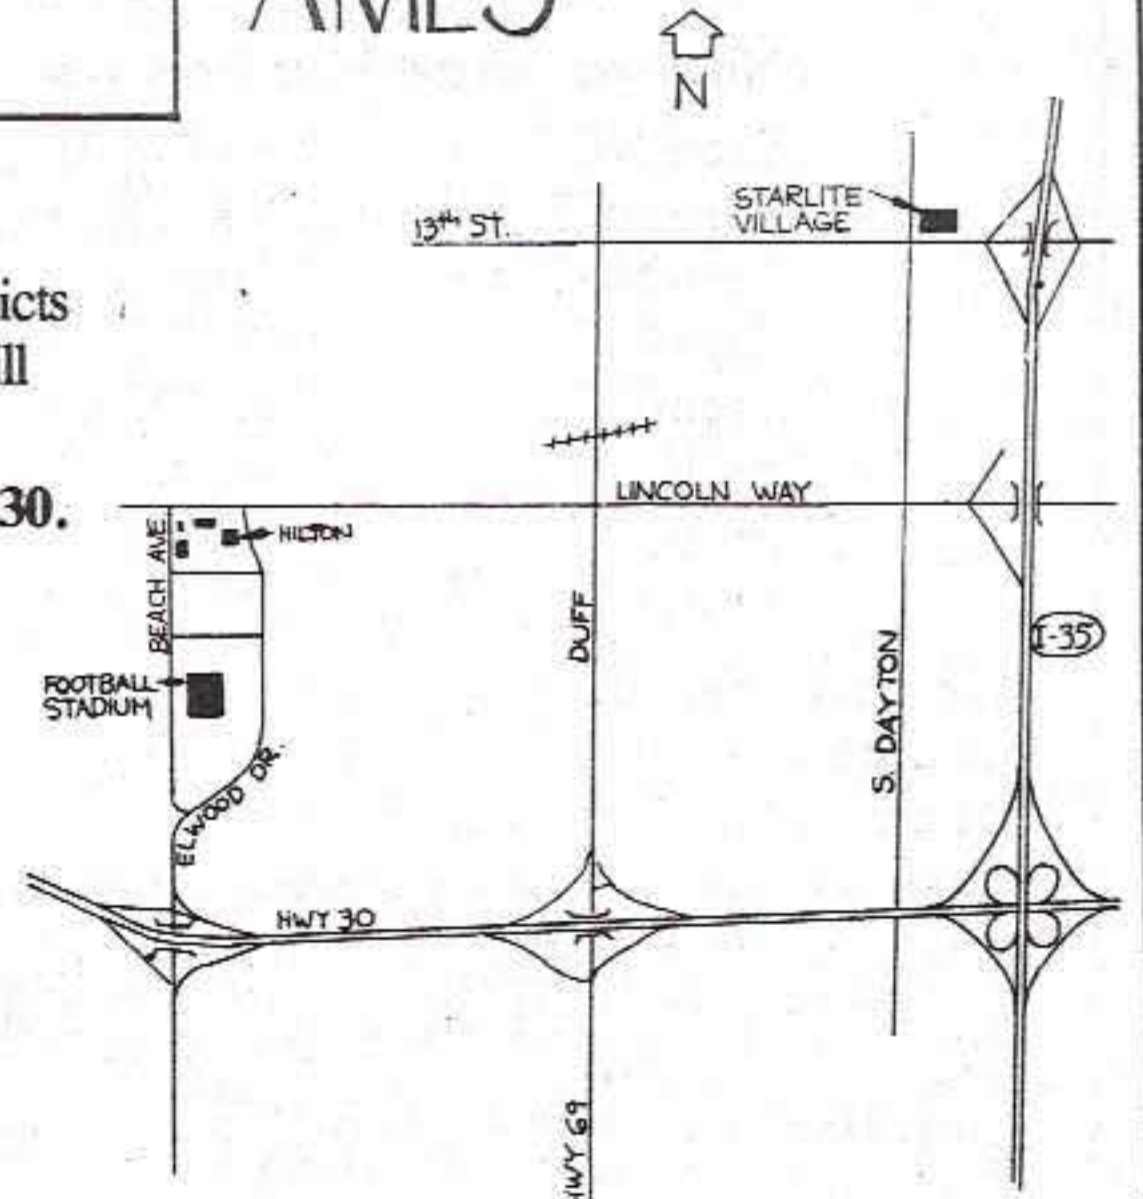

This year's Fall Ball plans to be another gala event, providing fun and fast action for all those who participate.

We move north this time to Ames, home of the Iowa State Cyclones. The autocross and concours will take place at Hilton Coliseum on Sunday, while the dinner and swim party will follow the rally at the Starlite Village. Preceding the dinner a tech quiz will be given and slides will be shown of the clubs various activeties from this year.

Cost for each event is $5.00 per driver. The buffet dinner is $12.50 per mouth. The Tech quiz is free! If you haven't made reservations yet, call Bryant Berg at 432-3772, RIGHT NOW!
